About Us

Sikkim Government Sanskrit College, Samdong, was established in 1997 at Gyalshing, West Sikkim. Since its inception, the college has been affiliated with Sampurnananda Sanskrit University, Uttar Pradesh.

In 2010, the college was shifted to Samdong, East Sikkim, where it now resides on a permanent campus spanning 9.16 acres. The college offers BA Shastri course for students pursuing higher education in Sanskrit, with subjects including Sanskrit Grammar, Sanskrit Sahitya, Puran Itihas, Jyotish, along with Hindi, Nepali, and English.

Currently, the college is in a transition phase between affiliations: the 2nd semester is conducted under Khangchendzonga State University, Sikkim, while the 4th and 6th semesters remain under Sampurnananda Sanskrit University, UP. This phased transition aligns with the New Education Policy and aims to eventually bring full affiliation to Khangchendzonga State University, expanding course offerings and academic opportunities.
